

تعبير عن الصداقة قصير وسهل بالانجليزي

المقدمة Introduction

Friendship is one of the most beautiful social relationships that exist between two or more people based on noble foundations and high morals, which once they are present in a person's life, he feels a lot of confidence, strength and psychological support, as friendship makes a person lose his unity, and makes him forget his weakness and fear, so a person must choose his friend well. Because it is the path he takes either to happiness or to depression and failure.

العرض The offer

Friendship has a broad concept that includes many words that express this sublime human relationship. When it is real, it is more like a relationship of brothers that do not have a blood relationship, but rather a relationship of souls familiar with each other's existence, which is absolutely based on love, loyalty, altruism and respect. Feelings of friendship stem from the heart and continue until old age, and no situation, word or preoccupation can affect it or shake its place in the hearts of friends.

Likewise, life without friendship is meaningless, and it seems more difficult because there is no one you can talk to without restriction or pretense. The relationship between friends is very simple, because when a friend chooses his friend, he chooses him because he sees himself in him, feels close to his heart, and understands what is going on. In his mind, therefore, you find that the relationship between friends is very special and beautiful and full of laughter and beautiful memories. Friends are the secret of joy and the reason for the laughter that is drawn on the lips, and it comes from the depths of the heart. Without the presence of friends, life seems gloomy and has nothing to stir the feelings of the heart.

الخاتمة Conclusion

Therefore, it is not surprising that the true friendship relationship is the most lasting social relationship in life, because it is an honest relationship in which there is no interest or goal, and through which it is not hoped to achieve any goal. Sustainability or continuity, because the time must come when a friend discovers the truth about his friend, and then he will know the necessity of making sure to choose friends well.
